

Oakwood Substation

The existing Oakwood Substation will be expanded into the area in the orange triangle, including expansion of the fence line.

The underground electric transmission line will connect to the Oakwood Substation under the Long Island Rail Road by trenchless crossing.

A diagram example of the trenchless crossing activity, commonly called auger bore installation.